

"Soon" becomes a day. "Later" becomes a time. We both initial it.

Our dictionary

“Soon” means _____	“Later” means _____	“In a bit” means _____
“This weekend” means _____	“When I get a chance” means _____	“After this episode” means _____

[illegible]

A new day needs both sets of initials. Asking for more time is always OK. Moving it quietly is not.

The person who made the promise writes the day. Nobody translates for the other person.

